Commissioner Brows reported that he had concluded infact with J. C. Watson for the building of a house for wompany, on Henry street. Cost $1,800. Approved. Commissioners Engs and Brown were instructed to retrect week as to standing committees.

Commissioner Exos proposed the following resolution and et of simple justice to the parties concerned who i remained faithful and steady at their posts:—

Resolved, That the Mctropolitan Fire Commissioners deeply impressed with their obligations to those of the gineers of the Volunteer Department who have, since a passage of a law creating a new department, up to a present time, rendered valuable services to them and the city, and they most respectfully tender to those other most sincere thanks for their aid.

the "four thriteens" had been for the most dy prepared, and the balloting consequently little time. The result is as follows:—Joseph , 4; Gilbert Jetube, 4; Ell Bates, 4; Wm. Ban-4; Thomas Sullivan, 4; Wm. W. Rhodes, 4; nolly, 3; Joseph D. Costar, 4; Michael Shaugh-; Bernard Sheriden, 4; Peter Y. Everett, 4; r. 1.

Mall building which washed off the accumulated dust, and made the marble look more presentable than it had appeared for many months. A great number of experienced engineers and firemen were present, who promounced the nozzle all that its inventors claimed it to be, an efficient fireman's aid at short range, and where a great surface was to be covered with water or steam in extinguishing a fire. The nozzle is described by the inventor as follows:—It is substantially, and to all outward appearances, the common nozzle, having a number of small levers pivoted about its inner surface, near the outer end. These levers extend about two inches beyond the end of the nozzle, and are bent inward at a slightly soute angle, resembling the figure 7; the part corresponding to the short leg of the figure 7; the part corresponding to the short leg of the figure 7; the part corresponding to the short leg of the figure 7 is wedge-shaped, the thin edge being nearest the aperture of the nozzle. The other ends of these levers—below where they are pivoted—are connected with the collar in such a manner that when the collar is revolved one-eighth of a revolution to the right, the wedge shaped part of half the levers, or spreaders, is projected into the stream, dividing it up into a number of triangular streams.

A PATENT HOSE COUPLING. A PATENT HOSE COUPLING.

The coupling on exhibition at the same time with the patent nozzle is known as the Jones patent, and has been In constant use, it is stated, in the city of Philadelphia and other places for some years. Should it prove useful and other places for some years. Should it prove useful it will undoubtedly be adopted in this city. Its great advantage appeared to be the ease with which it could be adjusted and uncoupled even when in use and the water youring through it. One man of ordinary strength couples or uncouples the hose with comparative case. The coupling is also water tight under ordinary pressure, and is described as merely an application of rubber apprings and washers, with accompanying solid brass mountings. Anything that tends to expedite the operations of preparing to put water on a fire deserves to succeed.

The Firemen's Trouble.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD. NEW YORK, Sept. 5, 1865. In the Herald of this morning there appeared a paragraph purporting to emanate from a member of Hose Dempany No. 49, and stating that they were attacked by pempany No. 49, and stating that they were attacked by members of Engine Company No. 20 at the fire at 68 Broadway on the night of the 3d, and that they lay in wait for us in doors and alleyways with clubs and wrenches. Now, Mr. Editor, as we are the two members who were but with Hose Company No. 49 at the above fire, allow us to state that the members of Engine Company No. 20 were in no wise engaged in the attack on our company.

The Germans.

The directors of the German Society held a monthly speeting yesterday at their office in Battery place, Mr. Binsinger occupying the chair. By Mr. Rose, the agent of the society, a report was submitted, from which it appears that during the month of August 23,077 immigrants landed at this port, of whom 9,877 were Germans. grants landed at this port, of whom 9,877 were Germans. The Germans arrived in forty-seven vessels, from the following places:—239 in one vessel from Antwerp, 4,437 in thirteen vessels from Bremen, 3,147 in seven from Hamburg, 209 in one from Havre, 1,697 in twenty-two from Liverpool, 93 in two from London, 55 in one from Rotterdam. During the same period last year 6,937 German immigrants landed at this port; in August, 1863, 2,519; in the same month of 1862, 2,487; in 1861, 1,792; in 1860, 3,098.

Since the 1st of January up to the 31st of August the whole number of immigrants at this port amounted to 123,409 persons, of whom 39,717 were Germans, against 137,558 immigrants up to this period last year, of whom 34,571 were Germans immigrants at this port, forty-one arrived from Havre and seventy-one from Newfoundland who were passengers in the William Nelson, which was burned at sea. These immigrants were provided with takets for passages into the interior by the German Society. Seventy persons were provided with employment by the agency of the German Society of the German Society. The Relief Committee expended nearly $330, and $300 were distributed among destitute and poor German immigrants during the present month. The receipts, including a balance of $2,669 44 on the 1st of August, amounted to $3,166 50. The expenses were $734 83; leaving a balance of $2,651 67 in the hands of the treasurer.

ROEBED IN A RAIL CAR.

Mr. Henry H. Buckbee, residing at No. 822 Greenwich street, yesterday made affidavit before Justice Hogan against James Lindsay, charging him with the larceny of a gold watch and chain, valued at $250. On the 2d instant Mr. Buckbee was riding through West street in a rail car, when Lindsay and a stranger in the same car jostled violently against him, and a few moments afterwards they left the car at Christopher street. At that moment Mr. Buckbee missed his watch and chain, and, suspecting Lindsay and his companion, pursued them into Wexnawken street, where the fugitives stopped. Lindsay turned and said to Mr. Buckbee:—"I did not steal your watch, but know who did, and will get it for you." The other man made a similar remark, whereupon Mr. Buckbee took the two men in charge, and started for the station house. On the way, however, they broke loose and escaped; but Mr. Buckbee afterwards caught Lindsay and gave him in charge of detective Golden. The magistrate committed the prisoner for trial, in default of bail. Lindsay is twenty-one years of age, born in Ireland, and lives at 337 West Twenty-first street.

for refreshments, and sat down at a table with two strangers. They soon left, without paying their bill, and whon Mr. Dufling offered the money for his own supper he was asked to pay for the cysters which the strangers had ordered. This he declined doing, and some loud words ensued between Dufling and the man at the counter. Dufling, after a bitter altercation, thought it prudent to pay the unjust demand, rather than run the risk of being assaulted and beaten by some ugly looking men who were in and about the place. He accordingly paid the bill in dispute, and was about leaving, when Charles Gilroy and two others assaulted Dufling, and Gilroy drew a knife and stabbed him in the right side, inflicting a very dangerous wound. Gilroy also stabbed his victim in two other places, but the wounds were not serious in their nature. The men then escaped, but on Tuesday night officers Mullen and Herbert, of the Fourth precinct, arrested Gilroy and locked him up. His confederates, however, are still at large.

Coroner Wildey yesterday proceeded to the New York Hospital, whither Duffing had been conveyed, and took his ante-mortem deposition, which is as follows:—

Louis Duffing, residing at 185 Franklin street, being duly sworn, deposes and says that on Saturday night I went in the cyster saloon corner of Roosevelt and Chatham streets with two men that I am not acquainted with; they took stews, and I took a plate of raw cysters; they went away without paying; the barkeeper wanted me to pay for their stews; at that time there were three other men in the saloon; they interfered to make me pay for the stews; a few words passed between us, when they attacked me, and during the attack I was stabbed I hem an here, the prisoner, was close to me, and I think from his movements that he was the one who stabbed me; after I was stabbed I left the saloon and went to my home; I was brought here in the morn-

SERVES HIS DECISION.

On the 27th of last month a young man named John Brown was arrested by officer Voltze, of the Forty-fifth precinct, E. D., on a charge of arson. The facis, as dereloped at the examination before Just.ca Walter yesterday, appear to be as follows:-

On the night above stated officer Hendricks, of the Forty-fifth precinct, testified that he was on duty on that pight and saw the accused in Graham avenue, between Powers and Ainslie streets, about half-past two o'clock Powers and Ainslie streets, about half-past two o'clock in the morning; he (the prisoner) was on the opposite side of the street; he was alone, and passed down Devoe street, and I followed him in about five minutes; there was a cart near the corner, and I could not see him; it was very dark; I stood about five minutes, when I saw a blaze which lit up the shed about twenty feet from the church and west of Graham avenue about seventy-five feet; there are no dwellings in the neighborhood; when I came up he ran down Ainslie street and I followed him; I called to him that I would shoot if he did not stop; I then rapped for assistance, and officer Voltze caught him; I told him that he might consider himself lucky that I did not shoot him; he besged me for God's sake to take him back and he would put the fire out; that he had never been guilty of any offence before; he said that the devii must have tempted him to do it; that it would bring disgrace on his father and mother, and he was very desirous of having the matter settled; officer Voltze asked him what he did it for; he said to get up an alarm and give "the boys" a run; we then brought him to the station house; the fire was smouldering, not blazing; one of the posts was blackened; did not examine him; he had on a lireman's rig, and a badge, No. 306; Sergenat Maddox took the badge from him.

Officer Voltze, the officer spoken of by the last witness, testified substantially to the same facts, which closed the case for the presecution; after which three witnesses were examined for the defence, their testimony being entirely confined to the proof of prisoner's previous good character.

At this stage of the case, Mr. Briggs, counsel for the prosecution, suggested to the Justice that he did not desire to press the case with any degree of severity, and asked permission to examine the prisoner privately, with a view of ascertaining his real motive in attempting to get up a false alarm of fire.

After the private examination, Mr. N. P. O'Brien, counsel for the defence, st in the morning; he (the prisoner) was on the opposite side of the street; he was alone, and passed down Devoe

Coroners' Inquests. THE MCLEERRY STREET HOMICIDE.—Coroner Gover yes-terday held an inquest at the Fourteenth precinct station terday held an inquest at the Fourteenth precinct station house over the remains of Ellen Gallagher, the woman who died at her residence, No. 192 Mulberry street, on Wednesday, from the effects of violence alleged to have been received at the hands of her husband. Several witnesses were examined, and the testimony showed that Gallagher had oft beaten, kicked and turned her out of doors. Deputy Corror John Beach made a post-mortem examination on the body, and found several cuts and contused wounds, but not of a fatal character. On opening the skull, however, a large clot of blood was discovered covering the left hemisphere, which clot produced compression of the brain. In the doctor's opinion death resulted from compression of the brain, caused by the rupture of a blood vessel. The jury found that Ellen Gallagher, the deceased, came to her death by apoplexy, superinduced by brutal treatment at the hands of her husband, Hugh Gallagher, on the 5th day of September, 1868. Coroner Gover then committed Gallagher to the Tombs. He is a plumber, twenty-nine years of age, and a native of Ireland. In his examination he pleaded not guilty.

Commissioner Wasr moved that the Finance Committee be instructed to inquire if the publication of the proceedings of the Board in the Trauseript and the Leader, at fifteen conts a line—the price they are now receiving—is any longer necessary, as these journals first agreed to do the work for ten cents a line, which is all the Board authorized to be paid. The motion was adopted, and the Board then adjourned.

Saratoga. A Committee on Permanent Organization then made a report, highly recommending the formation of a national union, to embrace all carpenters and joiners engaged in the building line in all its branches; and the officers to consist of a president, first and second vice president, recording and corresponding secretaries, treasurer, conductor and two wardons; and also recommending that a national password be issued. The report was accepted. A committee was appointed to nominate permanent was moved that the above nominations be accepted, which was carried, and the officers were conducted to their chairs.

It was moved that a committee, to consist of one delegate from each State, be appointed to draft a constitution and rules for the regulation of the permanent organization. Carried.

Much discussion was then entered into as to the utility of a State union for the trade. Several members of the Carpenters Union contended that such an organization was superfluous, and only adding additional and unnecessary expense on the members, without being of commensurate service to the society, and that by the establishment of a national union on a proper basis, with a strong fund which the retrenchment in taxation by the abolishment of the State organization would afford the national union, much more practical aid could be given to the members of the Carpenters' Union throughout the country, at which national union each local union would be represented by one delegate at the yearly convention. Others contended that the State organizations did not conflict with the national organization, and that, as the taxation was so small (about to cents per month from each member of the society being all that was required for the support of the State union) they could not see any fair reason for suspending such organizations; and furthermore contending that the State union was essential towards the furthermore of the mutual benefits and is the state union was essential towards the furtherance of the mutual benefits and unity of the trade throughout the country, it being a higher authority than the local unions, and as such was the best adapted to control the interests of the lesser or local organizations. The meeting adjourned at five o'clock until two o'clock this afternoon.

WOMAN.

Females, owing to the peculiar and important relations which they austain, their peculiar organization, and the offices they perform are subject to many sufferings and aliments peculiar to the sex. Freedom from these contributes in no amall degree to their happiness and welfare, for none can be happy who are ill. Not only so, but no one of these various fernale complaints can long be suffered to run on without in-

HBLMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU.

Hundreds suffer on in silence, and hundreds of others a ply vainly to druggists and doctors, who either merely tan
lize them with the hope of a cure or apply remedles whi make them worse. I would not wish to assert anything it would do injustice to the afflicted, but I am obliged to a
that aithough its may be produced from excessive exhausit causes the years that nature designed for corporeal development to be wasted and perverted in the restraints of frees, the early confinement of school, and especially in the unhealthy excitement of the ball room. Thus, with the body half clothed and the mind unduly excited by pleasure, perverting in midnich revel the hours designed by nature for sleep and rest, the work of destruction is half accompished.

In consequence of this early strain upon her system, unnecessary effort is required by the delicate votary to retain her situation in school at a later day, thus aggravating the carl. When one excitement is over, another in propective keeps the mind morbidly sensitive to impression, while the now constant restraint of fashionable dress, absolutely forbidding the exercise indispensable to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength the exposedity forbidding the sateries of the expositive that the exposure of the expositive that the exposure of the expositive desired that the exposure of the expositive desired that the exposure of the expositive desired that the exposure of the expositive desired, at least, an early marriage caps the climar of misery, and the unfortunate one, whilling subject of medical treatment. This is but a truthful picture of the experience of thousands of our young women.

Long before the ability to exercise the functions of the generative organs they require an education of their peculiar nervous system, composed of what is called the tissue, which is, in common with the female breast and lips, evidently under the control of mental emotions and associations at an early period of life; and, as we shall subsequently see, these emotions, when excessive, lead, long before puberty, to babita which say the very life of their victures ere nature has self-completed their development.
